

Brian Fannon, PhD

Yadkin Riverkeeper

Yadkin Riverkeeper, Inc.

Brian Fannon holds degrees in Biology (BS, Wake Forest University), Historical Geography (MS, Appalachian State University), and Physical Geography (Ph.D, UNC Greensboro.) He has worked as a fisheries biologist in Alaska and numerous locations on the East Coast, several positions in Natural and Cultural History preservation and interpretation, Education Director at Allison Woods Outdoor Learning Center, and taught at several schools and Universities, including rural Kenya. His career has been focused primarily on aquatic systems and resources, and he is currently the Yadkin Riverkeeper, based in Winston-Salem, NC.